Next Week: Learn What It Takes To Be a Top Small Company Workplace in Dallas

Be a workplace hero ...

In April I mentioned that one of our small workplace honorees, Headsets.com CEO Mike Faith, would be speaking at our 2011 Leadership Conference with Inc. Magazine. I'm getting ready to pack my bags for this jam-packed, three-day event, which will be held next week in Dallas, Texas. Go here for more info.

I took a look at the updated agenda and I was happy to see that three of the just-announced winners of Winning Workplaces' 2011 Top Small Company Workplaces award will be joining Mike's panel for the session which – naturally – will address what it takes to be a small business that has an ultra productive workplace culture Provigil pharmacy of ownership and accountability. Here are Mike's co-panelists:

- Heather Leanne Nangle, Co-owner, Director of Marketing, Communications & Social Responsibility, Namaste Solar
- Mark Sammons, Ownership Thinking Coach, n-Link Corporation
- Tania Binder, Vice President of Global Sales, TRX

According to the conference program, these four experts on impactful people practices will help their fellow small businesses in attendance:

1. Ensure their companies are places where the best and brightest are clamoring to get hired,
2. Get their employees to buy in on a deep emotional level, and
3. Learn what they need to change in order to make a real commitment to grow and develop their talent.

Now I'm even more excited for the conference. If you haven't yet registered and you can make it to Dallas next week, go here to join me. I'd love to meet you and learn what you do to attract, retain, and excite your workforce as a means for growing your business. (Who knows, your story could appear here.)
